SUPERVISOR COMMENTS

As the graveyard shift rounded out our work week, the officers were kept busy throughout the entirety. In addition to handling calls for service, officers were conducting traffic enforcement stops and contacting suspicious people. These resulted in several arrests for narcotics and warrants. Officers spent some time in the downtown area, patrolling for any issues at the local bars. None were reported. During the middle of the shift, officers responded to a park for a female subject who was sleeping on one of the benches. The officers contacted her and informed her of the park closure, asking her to leave. She became belligerent and aggressive, refusing to leave. Officers realized she was also intoxicated, and were forced to arrest her. During the arrest, she resisted and kicked at least one of the officers. She was arrested and taken to jail.
